ABSTRACT

A control variate Monte Carlo simulation for estimating the value of a portfolio of financial instruments is provided. The control variate uses a function dependent upon two state variables, the aggregate principal and the interest rate, to simulate the aggregate value of the portfolio.